ABSTRACT

| A method and system use networked computers to allow meeting participants to |
|---|
| communicate expressive images for remote meetings. Meeting participants may select |
| and display photographs of themselves to other meeting participants, thus communicating |
| expressive images during meetings without interrupting the discussion and presentations |
| that are taking place. The expressive images may be transmitted over a network to other |
| meeting participants. |

1

2 3